

I have just watched "A POW Story" broadcast by the Sinclair media group on WSYX in Columbus Ohio, and I am writting to express my opinion on the danger that large conglomerate media ownership possesses on our wonderfully democratic nation. I think it is dispicable for a company to require their stations to air such an horribly biased program under the guise of news. I write only to ask that more restrictions on media ownership be instituted, to try and help local news flourish and not have to rely on an handful of companies to bring me their "version" of the news. Thank you for your time, and allowing me a chance to put my two cents in.
Andrew Clark.
